Response to Amendment

Receipt is acknowledged of applicant's amendment filed April 22, 2004. Claims 61-71 are pending and an action on the merits is as follows.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 61, 63, 64, 66, 67, 69 and 70 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 61, 63, 66, 67 and 69 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Osakabe et al. (U.S. 5,713,413).

Osakabe discloses a cooling apparatus using boiling and condensing refrigerant comprising all of the applicant's claimed and disclosed limitations of the instant invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 64 and 70 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Osakabe et al. (U.S. 5,713,413) in view of Osakabe et al. (JP 10050909).

Osakabe's invention discloses all of the claimed limitations from above except for the corrugated fins having openings at the side surfaces.

However, Osakabe (JP '909) teaches the use of a refrigerant tank comprising fins having openings at the side surfaces.

Given the teachings of Osakabe ('909), it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the cooling apparatus of Osakabe ('413) with corrugated fins having openings at the side surfaces.

Doing so would provide an enhance boiling surface area within the refrigerant tank which will improve heat transfer.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 62, 65, 68 an 71 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed April 20, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's states, Crowe only discloses one fin located in the evaporating region and not two boiling area increasing means as is now claimed in Claims 61 and 66.

Applicant's arguments are moot in view of the newly discovered reference to Osakabe et al. (U.S. 5,713,413), which discloses an evaporating region comprising two boiling area increasing means.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
